PatentBridge is a full service privately-held patent broker located in the heart of Silicon Valley that specializes in bringing to market select technologies covering extraordinary software, Internet and technology breakthroughs. Today is the anniversary of Thomas Edison's birthday and, fittingly, National Inventors Day in the US. To mark the occasion, president of GE Ventures' licensing operation, Pat Patnode, has written this exclusive guest blog for IAM looking at how the giant conglomerate is putting its vast patent portfolio to use in a broader range of industries than ever before. Kent Richardson counsels clients on a variety of patent and business matters including patent buying, selling, licensing, valuation, prosecution and operations. Kent has licensing and marketing ...Chief IP Counsel-Atlanta based. Our client, a multi-billion dollar software division of a Fortune 100 company, is seeking an experienced patent attorney who can lead and execute the intellectual property strategy for the business.
